We have read this number of a very meritorious took, with pieasure and profit. The 'Family Department' is particularly excellent, and we hope the work is well sustained. The poem, 'The Old and the New,' by Sallie J. Hancock, of Evanside, is of more tunn ordinary poetic merit, marred by one Alexandrine and some defects in rhythm and accontination; and more still by errors in printing, or perhaps in the punctuation, &c., of the manuscript. Either the writer or the proof-reader ought to be more careful. And all young writers may be profitably advised to learn, first of all, how to write plainly and punctuate correctly. Correctness of ear and rhythmic accuracy will come by practice.

THE PATENT FASHION SKIRT!

GRAND TRIUMPH OF THE AGE!

All the great difficulties and serious objections heretofore experienced by the Skirt Wearing Public entirely overcome by

The New Patent Fashion Skirt. This Skirt is made from Cloth woven expressly for it, and in such a manner hat the Springs are completely hidden. It being whole, like a common muslin kirt, the old difficulties of getting the feet entangled among the wires, or catching the wires on obstacles in the path, or on carriage or car steps, etc., are overcome, and the liabilities to the many accidents, which have herelofore so often proved fatal to life and limb, are most surely avoided. The Skirt can be made in any form desired, and owing to the support given by the clots an Eliptic Spring is used, which not only adds much to its grace and elegance, but renders it THE MOST FLEXIBLE SKIRT MADE! The Cloth from which this Skirt is made is woven very light, and the support which each spring receives on all points by the springs near it, renders a less number of springs necessary than usually required in the Common Skeleton Skirt to give the same elegance of form. Hence, the Skirt, though a whole Cloth Skirt, IS NO HEAVIER than an ordinary Skeleton Skirt.

For the Promenade, they are SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHERS. EASILY COLLAPSED, without danger of injury, and readily assuming again that elegance of shape peculiar to their construction, these Shirts can be washed without injuring the wire.
